Ask about this video

This video presents the highlights of Stage 20 of the 2026 Tour de France, a grueling mountain stage leading into the final stretch in Paris.

Stage 20 Overview:

- King of the Mountains: Richard Carapaz produced a dominant performance, securing enough points across the Col de la Croix de Fer and Col du Galibier to clinch the polka dot jersey (2:30, 6:05).
- Stage Victory: After a dramatic battle, Richard Carapaz claimed the stage win (7:42), finishing ahead of a charging Remco Evenepoel (7:54).
- General Classification: Tadej Pogačar maintained his grip on the yellow jersey, successfully supporting his teammate Del Toro, who secured a podium spot (8:23, 9:39). Remco Evenepoel solidified his standing as the second-best rider of the tour (8:07).
- Green Jersey Campaign: Mads Pedersen showcased remarkable effort, attacking from the peloton to win an intermediate sprint and effectively secure the green jersey (2:36, 3:12).

Key Dramatic Moments:

- Crashes: Sepp Kuss suffered multiple crashes during the stage, significantly impacting his ability to contend for the win (6:22, 6:35).

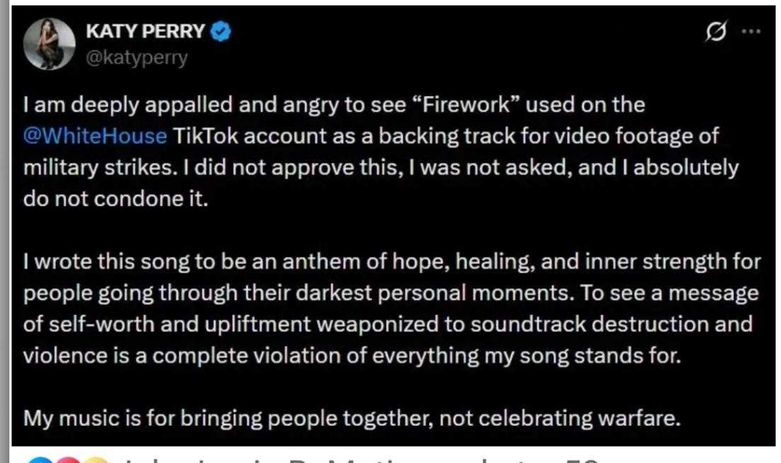
BINATIKOS ANG WHITE HOUSE

Umalma ang American singer-songwriter na si Katy Perry sa paggamit ng White House sa kanta niyang "Fireworks" sa inilabas nitong video footage ng military strikes sa Iran.

Wala umanong pahintulot ang paggamit ng kanta sa isang video na nagpapakita ng karahasan, na labag din sa kanyang prinsipyo.

📷: Katy Perry/X



KATY PERRY
@katyperry
I am deeply appalled and angry to see “Firework” used on the @WhiteHouse TikTok account as a backing track for video footage of military strikes. I did not approve this, I was not asked, and I absolutely do not condone it.
I wrote this song to be an anthem of hope, healing, and inner strength for people going through their darkest personal moments. To see a message of self-worth and upliftment weaponized to soundtrack destruction and violence is a complete violation of everything my song stands for.
My music is for bringing people together, not celebrating warfare.

AYAW KAY LEBRON?

Nagbigay ng opinyon si US Pres. Donald Trump sa matagal nang usapin kung sino ang "greatest of all time" sa NBA matapos ihayag ni LeBron James ang paglipat niya sa Philadelphia 76ers para sa 2026–2027 season.

Nang tanungin kung sino ang mas mahusay kina LeBron James at Michael Jordan, pinili ni Trump si Jordan.

Sinabi rin niya na kaibigan niya si Jordan at naglalaro sila ng golf, habang inamin din niya ang personal na pananaw tungkol kay LeBron.

The Eucharist is the Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity of Jesus Christ. Out of love and reverence for this great mystery, the Church teaches that we should only receive Communion when properly disposed. Here are five important situations when a Catholic must refrain from receiving:

1. Being in a State of Mortal Sin

If a person is conscious of having committed a grave sin and has not yet received sacramental Confession, they must not receive Communion (Canon 916; CCC 1457).

2. Not Observing the Eucharistic Fast

One must fast from food and drink (except water and medicine) for at least one hour before receiving Communion (Canon 919).

3. Lack of Proper Disposition

Receiving Communion requires faith, reverence, and the intention to live in communion with Christ and His Church. Approaching the Eucharist without the desire to live according to the Gospel is a serious matter.

Jul 26, 2026 10:35:40

4. Public and Unresolved Situations of Grave Sin

facebook

4. Public and Unresolved Situations of Grave Sin

Those living in a public state of mortal sin (for example, certain irregular marital situations without proper pastoral guidance) are generally not to receive Communion until the situation is resolved according to Church teaching.

5. Having Already Received Twice That Day

A person may receive Communion a second time on the same day only under specific conditions (such as participating in another Mass). A third reception is not permitted except in danger of death (Canon 917).

These norms are not meant to exclude, but to protect the sacredness of the Eucharist and help us approach Jesus with clean hearts. When in doubt, go to Confession and seek guidance from a priest.

Have you ever had questions about the proper disposition for Communion? Share respectfully below. 🙏

Chinese Embassy Manila
16h •

Jay Tarriela is once again turning the facts upside down and misleading the public.

The fact is that the Philippine vessels had illegally intruded into the waters of Huangyan Dao in two consecutive days. After repeated warnings were ignored, the China Coast Guard took necessary law enforcement measures, in accordance with the law, to warn the Philippine vessels and regulate their movements. The operation was lawful, justified, professional, well-regulated, and conducted with the utmost restraint.

Yet Jay Tarriela removes the context, exaggerates the response, labels every law enforcement measure as an "attack," and rushes to social media to push a false narrative. Why does Jay Tarriela remain silent about the Philippine vessels' repeated intrusions while relentlessly smearing China's legitimate law enforcement actions? No amount of spin can change one simple fact: it was the Philippine vessels that crossed the line first, and the China Coast Guard responded with the utmost restraint.

KEY TOPICS & FORMULAS IN SEISMIC HOOP REINFORCEMENT (ACI) & STATIC BASE SHEAR CALCULATIONS

SECTION 1: HOOP REINFORCEMENT PURPOSE

Confines concrete core, provides shear strength, restrains buckling of longitudinal bars.

SECTION 2: HOOP DETAILING (ACI REQUIREMENTS)

135°

Crosstie

Hoop: A closed tie or continuously wound tie.
Crosstie: A continuous bar with a 90-degree hook at one end and a 135-degree hook at the other.

$$s_{max} \le \min\left(\frac{d}{4}, 6 \cdot d_{bl}, 4 + \frac{14 - h_x}{3}, 6\right)$$

(maximum tie spacing)

SECTION 4: EQUIVALENT LATERAL FORCE PROCEDURE (ELF)

Used for structures with regular configuration and limited height.

$V = C_s \cdot W$ (Base Shear equation)

SECTION 5: SEISMIC RESPONSE COEFFICIENT (C_s)

Factor to calculate seismic base shear.

$$C_s = \frac{S_{DS}}{R/I_e} \qquad C_{s\_min} = 0.044 \cdot S_{DS} I_e$$

$$C_{s\_max} = \frac{S_{D1}}{T \cdot (R/I_e)} \quad \text{for } T \le T_L$$

SECTION 6: VERTICAL DISTRIBUTION OF LATERAL FORCES

Total base shear V distributed over the height of the structure.

$$F_x = C_v \cdot V$$

$$C_v = \frac{w_x \cdot h_x^k}{\sum (w_i \cdot h_i^k)}$$

k is an exponent related to T

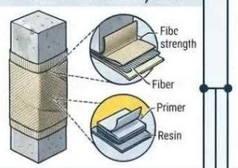
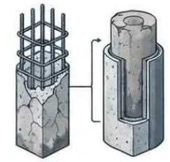
STRUCTURAL RETROFITTING METHODOLOGIES

1. CFRP (CARBON FIBER-REINFORCED POLYMER) WRAP



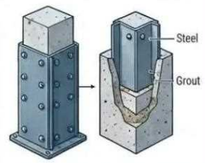
- High strength-to-weight ratio, non-corrosive.
- Enhances flexural and shear strength.

2. CONCRETE JACKETING



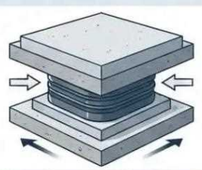
- Restores and increases load-bearing capacity.
- Improves structural integrity.

3. STEEL JACKETING



- Provides high confinement and shear strength.
- Effective for damaged columns.

4. BASE ISOLATOR

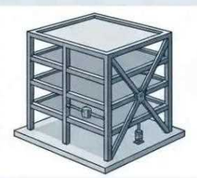


- Decouples superstructure from ground motion.
- Significantly reduces seismic forces.

5. SHEAR WALL

- Adds substantial lateral stiffness.
- Resists wind and earthquake loads.

6. DAMPERS & BRACING



- Dissipates energy and reduces drift.
- Increases seismic performance.

Science meets Faith? NASA's astronomical models confirm a partial lunar eclipse ("blood moon") visible in Jerusalem on Friday, April 3, 33 AD—the date many scholars believe Jesus was crucified.

NASA's long-standing astronomical models—developed over decades to track the precise positions of the Earth, Moon, and Sun throughout history—confirm that a partial lunar eclipse occurred on Friday, April 3, 33 AD. This event turned the Moon a striking reddish hue, often called a "blood moon," and it was visible from Jerusalem shortly after sunset.

Scholars, including Oxford researchers Colin Humphreys and W. Graeme Waddington who drew on NASA's eclipse data in the 1980s, have long pointed to this date as one of the most likely for Jesus' crucifixion.

The timing aligns remarkably with New Testament descriptions: darkness covering the land from noon until 3 p.m. during the crucifixion (as recorded in Matthew 27:45, Mark 15:33, and Luke 23:44–45), followed by Peter's reference in Acts 2:20 to the prophecy of Joel 2:31, where "the sun will be turned to darkness and the moon to blood."

Jul 26, 2026 12:15:42

NASA notes that Christian texts mentioning the

facebook

and the moon to blood."

NASA notes that Christian texts mentioning the Moon turning to blood after the crucifixion could refer to such a lunar eclipse, during which Earth's atmosphere scatters sunlight and bathes the Moon in a deep red glow. Their sky-tracking calculations pinpoint this rare phenomenon occurring that very evening in Jerusalem, providing an intriguing scientific echo to these ancient scriptural events.

For many, this intersection of faith, history, and cutting-edge astronomy feels profoundly affirming—a reminder that the cosmos itself may bear witness to pivotal moments in human story.

Interestingly, this year's Good Friday falls on April 3!

What do you think about this blend of science and Scripture? Does it deepen the historical resonance for you? 🙏

On this day in 1969, the world's spotlight shone brightly on Manila as two historic events unfolded in the Philippines on the exact same day!

👑 The Queen's Homecoming: Gloria Diaz

Fresh off her legendary win in Miami Beach as the first-ever Filipina Miss Universe, 18-year-old Gloria Diaz touched down in Manila to a grand hero's welcome! Thousands of cheering Filipinos lined the city streets for her parade, celebrating a victory that united the nation in pride.

🚀 Global Diplomacy & Space Age: President Nixon's Visit

Concurrently, US President Richard Nixon and First Lady Pat Nixon arrived in Manila for an official state visit. Manila had the distinction of being the very first world capital Nixon visited immediately after the landmark Apollo 11 moon landing just days earlier, bringing space-age energy and international diplomatic attention straight to the country.

ROBIN PADILLA DOES NOT NEED TO UNDERSTAND THE CASE

Robin Padilla does not need to win the argument. He only needs to make himself more memorable than the evidence.

Every time he misunderstands a legal principle, answers a serious allegation with a mangled analogy, or delivers a statement so incoherent that it becomes instant content, public attention moves away from the record. People stop discussing what the documents and testimony establish. They begin discussing whether Robin is stupid, unqualified, or merely performing stupidity.

Either way, Robin wins the attention.

This does not require a coordinated strategy. Whether deliberate or instinctive, the political function is the same: confusion becomes spectacle, spectacle becomes virality, and virality displaces scrutiny.

Evidence is slow. It requires context, concentration, and explanation. Incompetence is immediate. It fits inside a thirty-second clip, a meme, or a furious Facebook caption. One absurd sentence can erase hours of substantive testimony from the public conversation.

Jul 26, 2026 12:20:28

Evidence is slow. It requires context, concentration, and explanation. Incompetence is immediate. It fits inside a thirty-second clip, a meme, or a furious Facebook caption. One absurd sentence can erase hours of substantive testimony from the public conversation.

That is why dismissing Robin as “just stupid” misses the larger danger.

His incomprehension is not politically neutral. It creates an asymmetric battlefield. His critics must explain the law, reconstruct the facts, identify the fallacy, and patiently show where his reasoning collapses.

Robin only has to speak again.

By the time the correction arrives, the spectacle has already won.

Ridicule may even strengthen him. When lawyers, journalists, professors, and educated critics mock his ignorance, some supporters do not hear a correction. They hear elites insulting someone who looks and speaks like them.

Critics see incompetence. Supporters may see authenticity under attack.

Jul 26, 2026 12:20:33

Robin's greatest political asset, therefore, may not be intelligence but identification. He transforms his inability to follow a complex argument into proof that complexity itself is suspicious, that expertise is arrogance, and that confidence is a substitute for comprehension.

This is how ignorance becomes populist theater.

Every blunder produces exposure. Every correction reinforces grievance. Every meme keeps him culturally present. What should disqualify him becomes the very material from which his political brand is built.

The real scandal is no longer simply that a senator does not understand the proceedings.

It is that he may not need to.

In a political system where virality is mistaken for relevance, familiarity for credibility, and performance for public service, Robin's incompetence can survive because it is profitable to everyone except the public.

The evidence demands attention.

Robin consumes it.

And while the country laughs at the clown, the case quietly disappears behind him.

Did you know? The tearing of the Temple veil spoke volumes about the Passion of Christ?

At the very moment our Lord Jesus Christ cried out and gave up His spirit on the Cross, the massive curtain separating the Holy of Holies in the Jerusalem Temple was miraculously rent from top to bottom by the hand of God Himself.

This was no ordinary event!

The veil, thick and heavy, shielded the innermost sanctuary where only the high priest could enter once a year on the Day of Atonement. It symbolized the barrier between sinful humanity and the all-holy presence of God under the Old Covenant.

⚡But when the true Lamb of God offered Himself once for all, that barrier was supernaturally torn open. As the Church teaches, this prefigured the tearing of Christ's own sacred flesh — the "new and living way" opened for us through His Body (Hebrews 10:19-20). Jesus is the true Temple, and in His Passion, He becomes our eternal High Priest.

The early Church Fathers reflected deeply on this mystery...

Jul 26, 2026 12:22:30

facebook

The early Church Fathers reflected deeply on this mystery...

✅ St. Augustine and others noted that the rending happened precisely when Jesus "gave up the ghost," showing it was no coincidence but a divine sign.

✅ Commentaries preserved in the tradition (such as those gathered by St. Thomas Aquinas) emphasize that the outer veil was torn to signify that the mysteries once hidden were now revealed through Christ's death: the ceremonies of the old law were fulfilled and the way into God's presence was opened not just for one priest, but for all believers.

⭐ In the Catholic understanding, this tearing points directly to the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. No longer confined to a physical temple that would soon be destroyed (in A.D. 70), God's presence now dwells among us in every tabernacle.

Through the Eucharist, we enter the true Holy of Holies — receiving Christ's Body, Blood, Soul, and Divinity — drawing near with confidence because of His once-for-all sacrifice.

So Baste appeared in Davao the morning after binaha ng lagpas tao yung ilang areas ng Davao City, only to attend the PDP gathering together with Robin, Bong Go, at mga ibang hardcore DDS personalities.

Yan ang inatupag talaga habang parts of the city, including some schools were devastated by floods. Inuna talaga ang gathering ng partido kesa tumugon muna sa mga naapektuhan ng baha. But of course, walang mali diyan sa mata ng DDS. Ipagtatanggol pa nila yan.

International Criminal Court (ICC) members voted on Friday to dismiss Karim Khan as chief prosecutor following allegations of sexual misconduct, the AP and Reuters news agencies reported.

A British barrister, Khan was accused of sexual misconduct with a female aide, allegations which he has repeatedly denied. He had been temporarily removed from his duties at the ICC in June, following a report by the executive committee of the court's oversight body that found he had committed "serious misconduct."
In all, 82 of the court's 125 member states voted in favor of Khan's removal while 13 voted against and 15 countries abstained.

Khan, 56, made headlines in 2024 when he successfully applied for arrest warrants against Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and former Defense Minister Yoav Gallant over the Gaza war, as well as leading members of the Hamas militant group who have since been killed.

All active ICC warrants will remain in place despite Khan's dismissal, because only ICC judges have the authority to withdraw warrants.

HINDI MAGRE-RESIGN

Iginiit ni Vice Pres. Sara Duterte na hindi siya magre-resign sa gitna ng kinakaharap niyang impeachment trial.

Ayon sa Bise Presidente, pagtataksil umano ito sa mga bumoto sa kanya.

Sinabi rin niyang kung nais siyang alisin sa puwesto, mas mainam daw na si Pres. Bongbong Marcos na lang ang magpatalsik sa kanya.

Sara Duterte gets acquitted. She wins the presidency in 2028. She wages a bloodbath against her political rivals and critics. That will be another 6 years of revenge politics while ordinary Filipinos suffer. Jinggoy Estrada, Bong Revilla, and Rodante Marcoleta are freed from prison and gets elected as senators again. POGO returns. Quiboloy becomes owner of the universe again. Jimmy Bondoc, Jack Argota, and Philip Salvador get appointed into high positions. Good luck, my beloved republic.

THE GEOLOGY OF CONVENTIONAL AND UNCONVENTIONAL OIL AND GAS

INTRODUCTION
Petroleum geology is the branch of geology that studies the origin, migration, accumulation, exploration, and production of crude oil and natural gas. Hydrocarbons are formed from the buried remains of microscopic plants, algae, and marine organisms that lived millions of years ago. Over time, heat and pressure transform this organic matter into oil and natural gas, which migrate through rocks until they become trapped or remain within the rock where they formed.
Hydrocarbon resources are broadly classified into conventional and unconventional oil and gas, depending on where they occur and the methods required for extraction.

FORMATION OF OIL AND GAS
Oil and gas formation takes place through several geological processes over millions of years.

1. DEPOSITION OF ORGANIC MATTER
The process begins when organic materials such as algae, plankton, and other microorganisms accumulate in lakes, seas, and ocean basins. These materials settle with fine sediments in oxygen-poor environments, preventing complete decomposition.

Jul 26, 2026 13:38:12

1. DEPOSITION OF ORGANIC MATTER
The process begins when organic materials such as algae, plankton, and other microorganisms accumulate in lakes, seas, and ocean basins. These materials settle with fine sediments in oxygen-poor environments, preventing complete decomposition.

2. BURIAL AND COMPACTION
As additional sediments accumulate, the organic-rich sediments become buried deeper. Increasing pressure compacts the sediments into sedimentary rocks such as shale.

3. THERMAL MATURATION
With increasing burial depth, temperature and pressure rise.

• Around 60–120°C, organic matter is converted into crude oil (oil window).

• Between 120–200°C, oil breaks down further into natural gas (gas window).

The organic-rich shale that generates hydrocarbons is known as the source rock.

MIGRATION OF HYDROCARBONS
After formation, hydrocarbons migrate because they are less dense than surrounding formation water.
Migration occurs in two stages:

~ PRIMARY MIGRATION
Oil and gas move out of the source rock through microscopic fractures and pores.

Jul 26, 2026 13:38:14

~ PRIMARY MIGRATION
Oil and gas move out of the source rock through microscopic fractures and pores.

~ SECONDARY MIGRATION
Hydrocarbons continue moving through permeable rocks until they reach a geological trap.

Migration is driven by:
- Buoyancy
- Pressure differences
- Natural fractures
- Faults
- Rock permeability

PETROLEUM SYSTEM
A successful petroleum system consists of six essential elements.

1. SOURCE ROCK
The organic-rich sedimentary rock where hydrocarbons are generated.
Examples include:
- Organic shale
- Black shale
- Marine shale

2. RESERVOIR ROCK
A porous and permeable rock capable of storing hydrocarbons.

Jul 26, 2026 13:38:16

2. RESERVOIR ROCK
A porous and permeable rock capable of storing hydrocarbons.

Common reservoir rocks include:
- Sandstone
- Limestone
- Dolomite

Important properties:
- High porosity
- High permeability

3. SEAL (Cap Rock)
An impermeable rock that prevents hydrocarbons from escaping.
Examples:
- Shale
- Salt
- Dense limestone

Without a seal, hydrocarbons would migrate to the Earth's surface.

4. TRAP
A geological structure that accumulates hydrocarbons beneath the seal.

Types include:
- Anticlinal traps
- Fault traps
- Salt dome traps

Jul 26, 2026 13:38:18

- Salt dome traps
- Stratigraphic traps
- Combination traps

5. MIGRATION PATHWAY
Permeable rocks, fractures, and faults that allow hydrocarbons to move from the source rock into the reservoir.

6. TIMING
Hydrocarbon generation must occur before or during trap formation. If migration occurs before a trap develops, hydrocarbons may escape.

CONVENTIONAL OIL AND GAS
Conventional hydrocarbons migrate from the source rock into porous and permeable reservoir rocks where they accumulate beneath an impermeable seal.
These reservoirs allow oil and gas to flow naturally to wells with little stimulation.

CHARACTERISTICS
- Hydrocarbons have migrated away from the source rock.
- Stored in porous reservoir rocks.
- Easily produced using conventional drilling.
- Higher permeability.
- Lower production costs.

Jul 26, 2026 13:38:20

• Higher permeability.

• Lower production costs.

Examples
- Sandstone reservoirs
- Limestone reservoirs

UNCONVENTIONAL OIL AND GAS
Unconventional hydrocarbons remain trapped within very low-permeability rocks such as shale or tight sandstone. Because these rocks do not allow fluids to flow easily, advanced extraction techniques are required.

CHARACTERISTICS
• Hydrocarbons remain in the source rock or

• very tight formations.

• Very low permeability.

• Require hydraulic fracturing and horizontal drilling.

• More expensive to produce.

Examples include:
- Shale oil
- Shale gas
- Tight gas
- Tight oil
- Coalbed methane

HYDROCARBON TRAP AND FLUID ARRANGEMENT
Jul 26, 2026 13:38:22
Within a conventional petroleum reservoir, fluids

HYDROCARBON TRAP AND FLUID ARRANGEMENT
Within a conventional petroleum reservoir, fluids separate according to their densities.

> From top to bottom:

1. NATURAL GAS – occupies the highest position because it is the lightest.

2. CRUDE OIL – lies beneath the gas.

3. FORMATION WATER – occupies the lowest position because it is the densest.

This arrangement occurs beneath an impermeable seal that prevents hydrocarbons from escaping.

DEVELOPMENT OF A PETROLEUM TRAP
The formation of a petroleum trap involves several geological events:

Stage 1: HYDROCARBON GENERATION
Organic-rich source rocks generate oil and gas under increasing temperature and pressure.

Stage 2: STRUCTURAL DEFORMATION
Tectonic forces create folds and faults that act as traps.

Stage 3: MIGRATION
Oil and gas migrate upward through permeable rocks, fractures, and faults.

Jul 26, 2026 13:38:24
Stage 4: ACCUMULATION

Stage 4: ACCUMULATION
Hydrocarbons accumulate beneath the impermeable seal rock within the trap.

Stage 5: PRODUCTION
Exploration wells locate the reservoir, and production wells extract oil and gas.

Hydraulic Fracturing
Hydraulic fracturing (fracking) is primarily used for unconventional reservoirs.
The process involves:

• Drilling vertically and then horizontally into the target formation.

• Injecting water, sand, and additives under high pressure.

• Creating fractures in the rock.

• Allowing oil and gas to flow into the well.

Hydraulic fracturing significantly increases production from low-permeability formations.

HORIZONTAL DRILLING
Horizontal drilling allows a well to extend laterally through the productive rock layer, increasing contact with the reservoir and improving recovery.

Advantages include:
- Greater production rates
Jul 26, 2026 13:38:26
- Better recovery efficiency.
- Fewer surface drilling locations

Advantages include:
- Greater production rates.
- Better recovery efficiency.
- Fewer surface drilling locations.
- Improved access to thin hydrocarbon-bearing formations.

IMPORTANCE OF CONVENTIONAL AND UNCONVENTIONAL RESOURCES
1. Supply energy for transportation, electricity generation, and industries.

2. Provide raw materials for petrochemical products such as plastics, fertilizers, and synthetic fibres.

3. Contribute significantly to national economies through employment and revenue.

4. Improve energy security by diversifying hydrocarbon resources.

5. Extend the productive life of petroleum basins through the development of unconventional resources.

CHALLENGES
1. High exploration and drilling costs.

2. Environmental concerns related to hydraulic fracturing and groundwater protection.

3. Methane emissions and greenhouse gas release.

Jul 26, 2026 13:38:29

4. Declining production rates in mature fields.

4. Declining production rates in mature fields.

5. Complex reservoir characterization and production management.

CONCLUSION
The geology of conventional and unconventional oil and gas is fundamental to petroleum exploration and production. Conventional resources occur in porous reservoir rocks beneath effective seals and can generally be produced with traditional drilling methods. In contrast, unconventional resources remain trapped within low-permeability rocks such as shale, tight sandstone, and coal seams, requiring advanced technologies like horizontal drilling and hydraulic fracturing.

Did you know? The only saint Jesus Christ personally canonized… while hanging on the cross next to Him. His name? St. Dismas, the Good Thief.

Crucified beside Jesus, he had no time for great good deeds, no long prayers, and no holy reputation. In his final agonizing moments, he simply turned to the Lord and said: “Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom.”

Jesus looked at him and answered: “Amen, I say to you, today you will be with me in Paradise.” (Luke 23:42-43) In one instant, a lifetime of sin was wiped away by one act of sincere repentance.

He was brought to heaven, not because he did nothing, but because he had faith in Christ and in His Kingdom. Because of this Faith, he pleaded before Him, recognizing his sinfulness before the King of Kings, that alone was his great deed. And in that moment, Jesus forgave him.

St. Dismas became the first person promised Heaven, and the only saint directly canonized by Jesus Himself. He is now the patron saint of prisoners, criminals, sinners, and anyone who turns to God at the very last moment.

It’s never too late. No sin is too big. No moment is too late.

St. Dismas, pray for us! 🙏

Good morning, dear family ❤️

Not every closed door is a loss — sometimes it's God protecting us and preparing us for something better 🙏

Thank You, Lord, for every door that didn't open and every path You redirected. We trust that Your plan is always greater than our own.

I'm so grateful we get to trust His plan together, as one family 🤍

May the Lord remind you today that every redirection is leading you somewhere good.

Amen ✨

Why should Filipinos be talking about flooding in Africa or elsewhere in the world? Congressman Pulong Duterte's unprecedented ₱51 billion flood control budget wasn't allocated for Accra, Ghana -where the flooding in the photos actually occurred. It was allocated for his own district in Davao City.

Four years ago on July 23, 2022, Marvel announced to the excited San Diego Comic-Con crowd the slates for Phases 5 and 6 of the MCU. The Multiverse Saga was set to end with a two-part Avengers event. Avengers: The Kang Dynasty and Avengers: Secret Wars would bring the story to a close. The original plan, as hard as this might be to believe now, was for these two movies to release in 2025, just a handful of months apart. While there was much buzz surrounding the reveal, things obviously didn’t go according to plan.

Thanos was one of the MCU’s most memorable villains, successfully wiping out half of the universe before he was ultimately defeated in Avengers: Endgame. He was always going to be a tough act to follow, but Marvel thought they had the right idea in mind with Kang the Conqueror. Kang was originally intended to be the Multiverse Saga’s big bad, with then-rising star Jonathan Majors cast in the role. Majors had a well-received franchise debut in Loki Season 1 as the Kang variant He Who Remains and had future appearances planned. It seemed that the idea was to gradually build the character up leading to Avengers: The Kang Dynasty, similar to how Marvel handled Thanos in the Infinity Saga. But before the Kang dynasty could ever truly begin, it w...

Jul 26, 2026 18:39:08

In March 2023, shortly after Majors appeared in Creed III and Ant-Man and the Wasp: Quantumania, the actor was arrested on charges of assault, harassment, and strangulation. Majors was found guilty in December 2023 and was subsequently dropped from Marvel Studios. Marvel's decision to move on from Majors was understandable, but it put the studio in a tight spot. They had essentially built the Multiverse Saga around Kang, so they were forced to come up with a solution. Of course, that solution was bringing back MCU poster boy Robert Downey Jr. to play Doctor Doom, making him the main antagonist of the next two Avengers movies. It was a surprising pivot that illustrated how much things had changed behind the scenes since that initial announcement.

A case can be made that Marvel would have looked to move away from Kang regardless of whether or not Majors had legal issues. Even before Majors' arrest, Kang was not resonating with general audiences in the way Thanos had. Ant-Man and the Wasp: Quantumania became one of the worst-received MCU movies, netting a 46% score on Rotten Tomatoes. That poor word of mouth impacted the box office, as Quantumania earned $476 million worldwide against a net budget of $330.1 million. What was intended to be Kang's grand coming-out party turned into a disappointment, dampening viewers' enthusiasm for Kang to become a greater threat in the MCU.

The other thing Marvel could have done in the wake of the Majors verdict was recast Kang so they could continue with what had already been set up. The MCU has recast characters in the past, and it's not as if Majors had been in the role long enough to become synonymous with the villain. In fact, Marvel did discuss the possibility of playing Kang with Oscar nominee Colman Domingo, but he wasn't interested in replacing another actor.

Casting Downey as Doctor Doom drew a wide range of responses. There were plenty of people excited to see the actor back in the Marvel family, but others saw the move as a case of Marvel hitting the panic button in a desperate attempt to get the band back together. Not only was Downey returning, but Marvel also brought back directors Joe and Anthony Russo, Infinity War and Endgame filmmakers, to bring another superhero saga to a close. When you also factor in Chris Evans reprising Steve Rogers after seemingly retiring from the role after Endgame, it's hard to shake the feeling that Marvel is relying a bit too heavily on nostalgia to generate buzz for the next Avengers movie.

relying a bit too heavily on nostalgia to generate buzz for the next Avengers movie.

A very cynical way to look at Doomsday is it's an admission on Marvel's part that they failed post-Endgame to pave a compelling way forward for the franchise to grow. Rather than coming across as a thrilling culminating event that wraps up years of interconnected storytelling, Doomsday is instead trying to operate as a sequel to Endgame. Obviously, characters from previous Multiverse Saga projects are appearing in Doomsday, but the Russos themselves described Doomsday as "Phase Zero," downplaying what's come before. Following up Endgame in this manner is inherently risky because that film served as such a perfect finale to that period of Marvel history. The concept of the surviving Avengers dealing with the repercussions of the Time Heist could be captivating, but there's also the potential for undermining what made Endgame so great.

The sheer number of trailer views (500 million) and ticket pre-sales ($16.5 million) in the first day would indicate that any concerns about Doomsday are overblown. Despite Marvel's ups and downs, people remain excited to see Earth's Mightiest Heroes reunite on the big screen.

MARVEL FANS, ASSEMBLE!

Marvel Studios announced two new additions to the Marvel Cinematic Universe (MCU) during its panel at the San Diego Comic-Con on Sunday, July 26.

Ryan Gosling was officially introduced as the MCU's new Ghost Rider, while David Jonsson is also set to take on the mantle of the Black Panther in the upcoming third film.

The cast and filmmakers of "Avengers: Doomsday" also assembled, where they teased the long-awaited returns of Robert Downey Jr. and Chris Evans in an "Avengers" film.

Known as "The Meteor," this object is a fused block of steel beams and concrete salvaged after the attacks on the World Trade Center. The intense pressure and heat compressed remnants of about five floors into a compact piece just a few meters in size. Experts claim it serves as crucial forensic evidence of how the structure failed. "It documents the physical reality of the collapse," historians note.

At the heart of Jesus' teachings lies the mystery of the Kingdom of God, which today's Gospel likens to treasure and a pearl (cf. Mt 13:44–52). The parables convey the surprise of those who find something far beyond what they could have hoped for, so much so that selling or leaving everything behind no longer seems a sacrifice, but a gain.

Berlin police have released a photo of a 21-year-old Islamist suspect believed to be behind Saturday night's attack at the city's Pride celebration, where a vehicle ploughed into a crowd, killing one person and injuring more than a dozen others.

Authorities identified the suspect as Abdul B and appealed to the public for help locating him. Police said it remains unclear whether he acted alone, adding that multiple people may have fled the vehicle after it came to a stop near Berlin's Brandenburg Gate.

and the Blue Nile. Geologically, the Nile is a young river and has followed its present course for only 15,000 years. The Nile was the foundation of the ancient Egyptian civilization, which relied on the river for nearly every aspect of life. Many Europeans were fascinated by the Nile, and their explorations around Lake Victoria in the late 19th century located the source of the river. The Nile plays a critical role in the economies of Egypt and Sudan, which rely on it for irrigation. More than a dozen dams have been built in the Nile Basin, altering the river's annual flood cycle and restricting the transport of silt downstream to the Nile Delta. (Full article...)

EVEN SENATORS CAN BE FOOLED BY AI 🤦

Kids, this is why you always have to be careful with the contents you share. Just because something aligns with your ideals, may it be a technical or a politically-motivated one, take everything with a grain of salt.

Especially now that AI has been more capable in terms of producing close-to-real-life quality of graphics, way better than its outputs back a few years ago, it can be utilized in a propaganda machine.

Train yourselves to detect such deceptions. And after that, train others how to do it.

On Good Friday, Jesus was crucified at the third hour (≈9 a.m., Mark 15:25) and died at the ninth hour—3 p.m. (Matt 27:45-50; Mark 15:33-37; Luke 23:44-46).

At that exact moment darkness covered the land, He cried “It is finished,” the temple veil tore, the earth shook, and history changed forever.

Why 3 o’clock? It was no accident. This was the precise time Passover lambs were sacrificed in the Temple.

Jewish tradition and Josephus record that on Nisan 14 the lambs were slain “from the ninth hour till the eleventh” (≈3–5 p.m.). Thousands of lambs died that afternoon as families prepared the Passover meal.

At the very hour the priests began slaughtering those symbolic lambs, Jesus—the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world (John 1:29)—breathed His last.
This was divine precision. His blood, like the lamb’s on the doorposts in Egypt, protects believers from eternal judgment. His death at 3 p.m. fulfilled the Passover once and for all, ending the need for animal sacrifices.

Many Christians still pause at 3 p.m. to pray the Hour of Divine Mercy—the hour the Lamb died so we might live.

God’s clock has always been perfect. From the shadow in Egypt to the reality on Calvary, every moment points to Jesus.

He died at 3 o’clock so that death would pass over us forever.

DID YOU KNOW?
SAGISAG NG PANGULO NG PILIPINAS
Benigno "Noynoy" Aquino III was the first president to deliver his SONA entirely in Filipino. The first time Filipino was used in SONA was in 1936 by Manuel Quezon, who used the Tagalog word "kasamas." It was in the same SONA that he proposed the creation of the Filipino as the national language of the Philippines.

Faith, Gratitude, and Another Year of Blessings

Today, I have twice the reason to celebrate. As we honor the Feast of Señora Sta. Ana in Molo, I also thank the Almighty for the gift of another year of life - a reminder of His unwavering love, guidance, and countless blessings.

Sa tema sang sini nga tuig, “Bugay nga Pundasyon sa Aton Sinodanhong Pagpanglakaton,” ginapadayon naton ang pagpasalamat sa tanan nga grasya nga aton nabaton. Kabay pa nga ang aton pagtuo mangin mapag-on nga pundasyon sang paglaum, pagbinuligay, kag sinsero nga serbisyo para sa tagsa ka Ilonggo.

Malipayon nga Kapistahan, Señora Sta. Ana! Viva Molo! 💙

Patay ang 44-anyos na pares vendor sa Bgy. Tinga Labak, Batangas City matapos bugbugin at pagsasaksakin ng balisong ng anim na suspek nitong Sabado ng gabi, July 25.

Ayon sa imbestigasyon, lasing ang mga suspek nang mag-order ng pares.

Pero matapos umanong makakain, nagreklamo ang mga suspek dahil walang karne ang kanilang pagkain.

Dito na nagkaroon ng mainitang pagtatalo na nauwi sa krimen.

Tumakas ang mga suspek sakay ng kotse.

Sa follow-up operation, naaresto ang dalawang suspek habang patuloy ang pagtugis sa apat na iba pa. (📷: Batangas City Police Station) | via Dennis Datu, ABS-CBN News

Well it's not the first time that there was an influencer based in North Korea. If that guy is even from North Korea.

To anybody asking how this is possible.

This is likely somebody in South Korea who happens to exist close enough to the border that they can just pick up the broadcast

They also broadcast free-to-air via satellite. Anyone anywhere in the West with a dish tuned to Intelsat 21 and a DVB-S2 receiver can get KCTV.

Which is far more likely what the owner of this YouTube channel is doing.

Gigil ako kay Vice Ganda

It's Showtime
Nakarating po sa aming kaalaman na may mga madlang people po na hindi nagustuhan ang ilan sa aming biruan sa It's Showtime at sa MEMErimar— they found the jokes offensive or insensitive.
The last thing we want is to displease you o hindi mapasaya ang aming madlang people. Ina-acknowledge po namin ang inyong sentimyento at humihingi po kami ng paumanhin sa inyo, and we will try to do better. Maraming, maraming salamat po.
